Automatic brush washers should have dosing pumps set to draw between 50-75ml of product per minute of wash cycles. This will provide an approximate dilution of 2,000:1 dependent upon equipment.

If foaming equipment is used, for removal of heavier soiling, a dilution rate of 50:1 is recommended. An egg cup to a bucket of water is sufficient for cleaning by hand.

Always clean from the bottom upward, and rinse thoroughly. Do not allow product to dry on paint work.
